creation

fall

flood promise

God's global blessing-plan

Genesis 12.1-9

1. God's blessing-plan springs from Abram...and leads to Jesus

Home World UK | England | N. Ireland | Scotland | Wales | Business | Politics | Health | Education | Sci/Environment | Technology | Entertainment & Arts

Africa | Asia-Pacific | Europe | Latin America | Middle East | South Asia | US & Canada

Egypt's Mubarak steps down

Egypt's President Hosni Mubarak is stepping down, vice president announces on state television

First film footage of remote Amazon rainforest tribe

3 February 2011 Last updated at 21:14

An isolated tribe living in the Amazon rainforest on the Brazil-Peru border has been filmed for the first time.

Jose Carlos Meirelles, of Funai, said his government agency needs proof of the existence of "uncontacted" Indian communities in Brazil due to the threat posed by illegal logging and mining. They are known as "uncontacted" because they have only limited dealings with the outside world.

The BBC was allowed to film from 1km away using a stabilised zoom lens. More photographs of the tribe can be found here.

Human Planet was broadcast on Thursday 3 February at 2000 GMT on BBC One, and will also be

Most watched/listened Live coverage of Egypt BBC News Channel Cattle complete annual Skye swim Egypt army vow on emergency rule Wheel clamp boss: 'We are sympathetic' Head-cam in the name London 'super sewer' planned Jo Yeates's funeral takes place Why Nokia and Microsoft joined up

2. Abram is a model of true faith

v4